RE: 7800 Impossible Mission

It has come to my attention that we still have some quantity of defective 7800 Impossible Mission cartridges in inventory. Last July, Ron Stringari, Martin Morrow, Madeline Gordon and Sam Chin were informed that the game had a fatal flaw in it that made the game impossible to complete. They were going to scrap the inventory or sell it in South America and order new product as soon as we had fixed software. We released a corrected rev. of the software on 8/11/89. No order has been placed by the U.S. to date to my knowledge and the inventory of defectives remains. Please at least get rid fo the bad carts.

Thanks.
