

How to get the shield:

In what I call the "rock slide" room with all the boulders, go up to near the top left of the screen and drop down through one boulder. Walk to the left off the screen, and you'll be in the "health recharge" room. On the far left side you'll see the shield. If you're patient and can take moving slowly through the game, it's a great powerup that makes you invincible as long as you don't touch any of the cave walls. It will disappear on some screens (like the rolling boulder screen and the invisible maze) but you'll still have it when you get back to a normal screen.

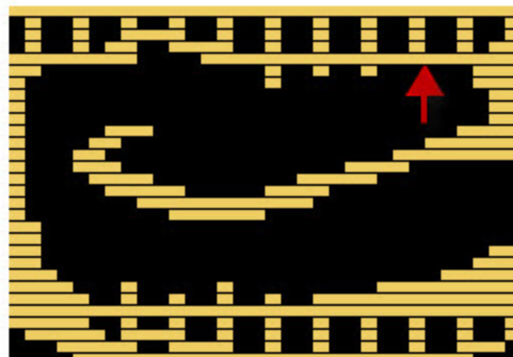

Easter Egg:

To activate the easter egg, you need to go to the top right of the screen pictured to the right without killing the enemy. That's it. Just walk to the top right of the screen into the corner, no killing allowed. Once you do that, the screen will change to show my name & the year the game was made and you'll be granted all 3 of the cave keys. It works on all three skill levels.

How to get to the Warp Room:

The warp room is a hidden room that allows you to directly warp to any of the four cave entrances. I had originally put it in there for my playtesting as it made it easier to get to all of the caves and it was never removed. Go to the room pictured to the right and walk into the top right corner, you'll be transported to the warp room. There are four entrances, each labeled with a W, G, Y, and B, corresponding to the Cave colors.

How to get a free health recharge:

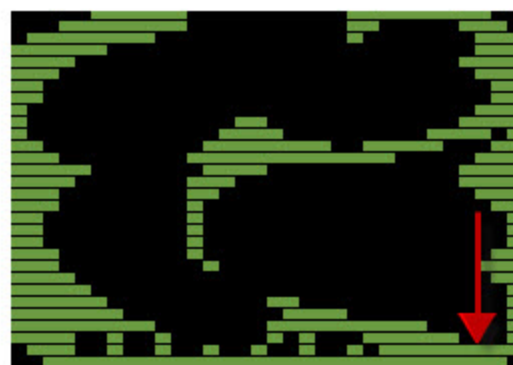

Plug in Joystick #2 into your console. Hold down the button and push right and you'll regain all of your health. I removed all the other 2nd Joystick cheats that were mentioned in the original AtariAge post except for the health restore cheat. I removed all the others because I ran out of space in bank 8 and needed those last few bytes for something more important. I'd forgotten that I had posted the cheats in the original post, so this isn't that big of a secret I guess.

Level 3 Tip:

The shield is essential on level three, I get it immediately first and then head to the gun room next. I've never actually beaten level 3 because I've never taken the time to do so, and it's pretty darn hard.

How to find the Hidden Gun Room:

Search for the Room pictured to the right and walk into the bottom right corner. You'll be transported to the room where you can pick up the Gun. It's the only normal room that does not have an enemy when you first enter the room.

On levels 2 and three it is possible to lose the gun, you'll have to come back to this room to get it again or hope that another gun is dropped by an enemy after it's killed.

How to get through the invisible maze:

The invisible maze is only three screens wide so it's not incredibly difficult to figure out, but I thought I'd go ahead and include the map here. You can keep the shield when you're inside the maze but will still drop it if you touch the side of the maze. The shield will be invisible if dropped in the maze.
