

CITATION: Cross of Excellence

Awarded for courage
and
superior marksmanship
on
the field of battle

Hello commander.

To the uninitiated, the difference between four and five Robot Tank assaults may seem relatively insignificant. After all, if you can destroy 48 robot warriors, what's a dozen more? It can't be that tough.

But you know better.

When you earned the Medal of Merit, you discovered you were good. But now you know the truth: that good is merely good, and it's not enough against the fury of the fifth wave. Because Robot Tanks are computerized monsters, capable of digesting data from earlier assault waves. And so each wave is quicker, more cunning, more deadly.

The fifth wave, in particular.

You've seen it. And you survived it.

Congratulations, commander. You are now a member of a very, very elite corps.

Citation authorized by:

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Jan".

Jan Marsella
Commander-in-Chief, Game Clubs
Activision World Headquarters

P.S. Please be sure and read the heat seal instructions on the reverse side of the patch. Your name will be added to our mailing list.